DPM '82

With nearly 40 years of experience, CHRISTOPHER SAVAGE is a skilled podiatrist, leader and a generous supporter of the next generation of practitioners.

Following graduation from the School of Podiatric Medicine, he founded his own practice, Brandywine Podiatry, which now consists of five practices across Delaware proving that Savage's skills as an entrepreneur are as impressive as his medical abilities.

He is certified by the American Board of Podiatric Surgery and is a fellow with the American College of Foot and Ankle Surgery. He also serves as a diplomat for the American Board of Podiatric Surgery and is a member of the American Academy of Podiatric Practice Management.

Savage shares his expertise with the Christiana Health Systems and St. Francis Hospital where he serves on the Podiatric Credentials Committee for both institutions. Previously, he took on the role of executive director of the Delaware Podiatric Medical Association and served as the organization's president for three terms.

Dedicated to giving back to the school that helped him work towards his dream of being a physician, Savage established the Brandywine Podiatry Endowed Scholarship to award third or fourth year students with financial need who took the time to mentor a first or second year student. He also sits on the school's Board of Visitors.

Prior to coming to Temple, Savage earned his bachelor's degree in biology from the University of Delaware, and then completed his residency at Lutheran Hospital in Baltimore, Maryland.
