

REEM S. SHAFI

DMD '98

REEM S. SHAFI is a talented dentist and ambitious entrepreneur who is passionate about providing care that's high quality and affordable for each and every one of her patients.

In 2004, she opened her first dental practice in Chicago, but quickly realized she wanted to do more. Now, her organization—Two Rivers Dental—is the epitome of modern dentistry and has grown at an impressive rate. Across several locations, Shafi's organization has more than 140 employees and 30 dentists.

Shafi's philosophy is guided by the highest of ethics and excellent patient care. This philosophy aided her in determining to avoid branding her various locations under one single name. Therefore, each and every one of her practices carries a unique name as well as a presence of family and community.

Achieving great success in establishing her business, she was inducted into the Temple University League for Entrepreneurial Women Hall of Fame in 2013. She also sits on the Kornberg School of Dentistry's Board of Visitors and is the president for the dental school's alumni association.

Shafi is from Tripoli, Libya and earned her bachelor's degree in Pakistan before coming to Philadelphia to study at the Kornberg School of Dentistry.
